Individual consecrations after Fr. Jobe comes to tell us about the Militia Immaculatae (MI) sometime after the beginning of next year. People will understand the individual consecration better after Fr. Jobe's explanation. Then we can decide whether to do the individual consecrations at Mass, as a group or in a separate ceremony.

Parish Consecration: On the weekend of 7-8th December at all the Masses.

Early Next Year: Fr. Jobe Abbass, OFM Conv., whom you know from his previous visits, will come to Rye to speak to us about the Militia Immaculatae which will be a fitting fruit of our parish consecration to the Immaculate Heart of Mary. Fr. Jobe is presently travelling to every parish in Our Lady of Angels Province promoting the MI.

Wisdom from our new Saint, John Henry Cardinal Newman: A man would do nothing if he waited until he could do it so well that no one could find fault.

We have had Fr. Stephen tell us about Benedictine devotion to the Blessed Virgin Mary, and Fr. Francis tells us about Carmelite devotion to the Mother of God. Over the next several weeks, thanks to CatholicCulture.org, we will be thinking about the Byzantine devotion to Mary. Unlike the Western Church, which has many writings about Marian Devotion, the Byzantine Devotion is found mainly in her prayer, liturgy and worship. This is not to say that there is disagreement between East and West; it is simply a slightly different method of reflection on Mary's role in Salvation History. But for both, it illustrates that a person with very little formal religious education, can have great love for Mary and her Son and more insight into the Mysteries of our Faith through devotion, prayer and worship. Any great theologian will tell you he gets more knowledge of God and His Mercy through prayer than through study. That is why he tries to turn his study into prayer, as we do whenever we recite one of the great Creeds of our Faith.

Mary in Byzantine Liturgy [part 1]

by Brother John M. Samaha, S.M.

DESCRIPTION

Bro. John Samaha, S.M. briefly explains what Byzantine liturgy is all about, with a special emphasis on the place of the Blessed Virgin Mary.

LARGER WORK: Homiletic & Pastoral Review - IGNATIUS Press, November 1999

In the various Christian traditions Marian doctrine and devotion take shape in manifold and diverse ways. Since the Second Vatican Council the Church has striven to promote a new and more careful study of the Blessed Virgin Mary, Mother of God, in the mystery of Christ and of the Church; to encourage theological faculties in the pursuit of knowledge, research, and piety with regard to Mary of Nazareth. The Mother of the Lord is understood as a "datum of revelation" and a "maternal presence" always operative in the life of the Church.<sup>1</sup>

The history of theological reflection witnesses to the Church's faith and attention regarding the Virgin Mary and her mission in the history of salvation. Especially is this evident in the Western Church.<sup>2</sup>

The deeper understanding of the mystery of the Theotokos (God-bearer), the more profound is the understanding of the mystery of Christ, of the Church, and of the vocation of humanity. Concerning Mary, everything is relative to Christ; only in the mystery of Christ is her mystery fully clear. Conversely it may generally be said that knowing Mary illuminates our appreciation of the mystery of Christ and of the Church.<sup>3</sup>

To the degree in which the mystery of the Church is understood, the mystery of Mary is apparent. Knowing Mary, the Church recognizes its origins, its mission of grace, its destiny to glory, and the pilgrimage of faith which guides it.<sup>4</sup>

The Virgin Mary is like a mirror reflecting the mighty works of God, which theology has the task of illustrating. The importance of Mariological reflection derives from the importance of Christology, from the value of ecclesiology (Church) and pneumatology (Holy Spirit), from the meaning of Christian anthropology (human nature), and from eschatology (the Last Things), and is an integral part of them.<sup>5</sup>

The veneration of Mary, when properly understood, permeates the entire life of the Church; it is a dimension of dogma and of piety, of Christology and of ecclesiology. This dimension needs to be made explicit today in connection with the problems of humanity. Mariology expresses something fundamental to the Christian life itself, to the Christian experience of the world.<sup>6</sup>

Sound Mariology has always been understood in Christological terms. If the Gospel revealed nothing more than the fact that Jesus Christ, God and man, was born of Mary, this alone would be sufficient for the Church to love her and to draw theological conclusions from pondering this relationship of Mother and Son. We need no other revelations. Mary is a self-evident and essential datum and dimension of the Gospel.<sup>7</sup>
